504
B183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

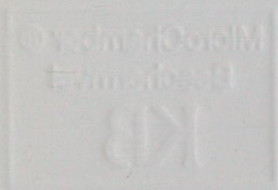

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

504 B 183

CARMEN
DE
EXTREMO
JUDICIO.

AMSTELÆDAMI.

Apud PETRUM BOETEMAN, in fossa Regia vulgò de Cingel prope Scholas Latinas.

MDCLXXVI.

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

CARMEN
DE
EXTREMO JUDICIO.

FErt animus tenui noster celebrare Camæna,
Humanas, eheu! cæcâ caligine mentes
Obductas, quos venter iners, quos dira libido
Sternit humi, miserâ quos compede vincit avaros
Vilis amor nummi, quêis pectoris inquinat ignem
Gloriolæ fumus sacrum, qui maxima ducunt
Vilia, qui ducunt in mundo vilia magna,
Æternisque student animo præferre caduca
Perverso, solique sibi calcanda futura
Proponunt læti rebus præsentibus; illos
Incepto conor studio terrere sinistro:
Judicium extremum nobis sit regula, norma,
Per quas Christicolæ ducentur tramite rectô.
Quæso mihi liceat paucis narrare diëi
Istius horrendam faciem, quò crimina ponat
Mortalis, quò concessos bene transigat annos.
E sacris verè nos novimus affore tempus,

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Quo mare, quo tellus, correptaque regia cæli
Ardeat, & mundi moles operoſa laboret.
Angelicæ turbæ cum Chriſto Judice, magna
Copia cernetur, cernetur & incola cæli
Innumerus, tantum numerum non viderit orbis:
Nam non Xerxis opes ingentes, flumina tota
Lambentes tantæ, quas Attica terra videbat.
Non ea majeſtas poſt condita ſecula viſa,
Quam viſurus erit mundus ſub judice tanto.
Non talem pompam Romana potentia vidit,
More Dei quamvis procedant ordine celſo,
Et ſplendore gravi, gemmis auroque referti
Quêis rutilis ſtellis radios imponere Phæbo
Conantur tenebras, immortaleſque videri.
Æther, tum tellus, nubes, pontuſque tremiſcent,
Cum ruit horribilis cælo vox ſparſa per auras;
Buccina terribili ſonitu, clangorque tubarum
Raucarum, tonitru ſtrepitus, tum fulminis ictus;
Fulgura noteſcent; qualis proceſſit Olympo.
Iſacidûm genti Deus, ut det jura, tonitru
Ac vocem horribilem populus perferre nequivit
Et clarum lumen, Sinäi Mons, fumus, & ignis,
Et fragor exiſtit, Moſes poſcente popello,
In promulgandis velavit legibus ora,
Namque Dei viſu tam clarus fulgor adhæſit,
Ut populus citra noxam non poſſet abire.
Abdita quæ dudum jacuere cadavera Terrâ,

Et

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Et quæ pontus habet , fluctuſque ad littora volvunt,
Et ſparſi cineres , per agros, per ſaxa, per undas,
Et laniata feris , quæ corpora mœſta jacebant;
In lucem emergent patefactis oſſa ſepulchris,
Atque ſolo rupto furibundi faucibus orci
Nigris , Alecto præſtò furiæque minaces ,
Tortoreſque alii ſtant , prædam , murmure fædo
Spectantes avidi. Tremebundus judicis hujus
Vultus erit minium , qualem decet eſſe Senatûs ,
Offenſi toties populorum crimine dirô,
Quos nixus tanquam gallina fovere ſub alis
Eſt , verbis toties blandis , perverſa propago
Contemſit monitum ſanum , propriamque ſalutem.
Quis non attonitus judex tua reſpicit ora?
Sæpius atque iterum populus te torſit ad iram,
Indigniſque modis vitæ patientia læſa
Induit ardentes animos , acremque furorem.
Non quæſitor erit Rhadamantus , & Æacus , atque
Minos , judicii juſti cunctiſque verendi.
Quæſitor ſcelerum veniet , vindexque reorum,
Qui commiſſa ſuis rimabitur argumentis.
Et trahet in lucem , tacitâque licentia fraude
Et quiſquis vero favit , culpamve perodit
Proditur , atque alto qui jurgia pectore tollat.
Tunc cum flammivoma deſcendet nube coruſcans
Judex ætherii genitoris gloria Chriſtus.
Matribus atque viris , & primâ luce peremtis

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Chriſtus jura dabit, mediâ cùm valle ſedebit
Quæſitor, vitam populorum & crimina penden
Vos & Apoſtolicæ gentis bis ſedibus ipſi
Senis, ſublimes homines cenſebitis unà,
Bis ſenæque tribus gentis tum veſtra ſubibunt
Arbitria, & veſtros mirabitur orbis honores.
Non indiſcùſſum verbum linquetur, at omne
Conſilium mentis, tum conſultatio vana:
Quicquid & arbitris dictum factumve remotis
Patratum fuerit, cernit penetralia cordis
Hic judex, homines geſtabunt pectore teſtem
Damnandum, ſurget rigor haud effabilis eheu!
Mentibus ó utinam! noſtris infixa maneret
Vox horrenda, venite, reſurgite corda ſepulta,
Siſtite vos coram Domino: vos præmia digna
Factis, aut triſtem pœnam portabitis a me.
A dextra lævaque ſimul ſtant ordine certo
Cuncti terrigenæ: tunc judex juſtus ab ore
Effundet vocem hanc: damnati tendite ad ignem
Æternum, vobis patefactum tempore longo.
Exitus haud ullus dabitur; nam quæſtio nulla
Hic eſt, exilii, gazæ, ſententia firma
Æternùm, damnat vos, agmina ſæva Sororum
Exſpectant miſeros quatientes dira flagello.
Hic & crudeles pœnas Salmonëus intùs
Perpetitur, flammas ſonituſque imitatus Olympi.
Aut qui divitiis ſoli incubuère repertis,

Qui-

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Quique ob adulterium cæſi , quique arma ſecuti
Impia , nec veriti Dominorum fallere dextras ;
Qui vendit patriam pretio , dominumque potentem
Inducit leges figens auro atque refigens ,
Qui thalamum invaſit gnatæ , vetitoſque Hymenæos ,
Aut audens immane nefas , auſoque potitus.
Torquet damnatos ſententia judicis alti ,
Natalem oderunt prolis materque paterque ,
Atque patri gnatus , maledicet filia matri ;
Odit avum neptis , conjux oditque maritum.
Livor eos urit major , quòd culmine ſummo
Evectos videant multos , quos ante videbant
Calcatos humili terrâ , cænoque jacentes.
Vox æterna malûm nunquam abſtergetur ab ore ,
Nam triſti , fruſtra , clamabunt voce , profundæ
Valles , vos montes , cælo ſtelliſque propinqui ,
Vertice ſublimi , rupes defendite ab ira
Damnatos agni , ſolio ſublimè ſedentis.
Non circumſcribi menſurâ temporis ullâ
Æternum poterit , comprêndi aut mente creatâ.
Annua monte licèt per avem tollatur arena
Nubifero , tandem vix collis habebitur illic.
Detur avis guttam rapiens de fluctibus unam
Oceani , innumeris annorum millibus ingens
Exhauſtus fiet pontus , fluctuſque ſilebunt.
Horrendus judex ſonat his qui cornua dextræ
Servant , huc adſis mecum dilecta propago ,

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Ac altos mecum cælos ſedeſque beatas
Scandito , dilexi te prima ab origine mundi ;
Carpito jam mecum cæleſtia gaudia , nullum
Quæ tempus delet , nunc præmia juſta referto.
Ac immixta choro Divûm reſideto perenni,
Cernito lætitiam , quam nunquam vidit ocellus
Humanus, nec adhuc hominum penetravit ad aures.
Hoc læto eventu cunctis mortalibus opto:
Ut fugiant mundi fraudes , vitamque doloſam ;
Omne nefas vitent , mors Chriſti gloria cæli,
Semper iis adſit , circum præcordia verſet,
Jugiter & pia mens noctéſque dieſque laboret,
Ut finem tangat , quo gloria celſa paretur,
Cum Chriſto superûmque jugo dominentur in aſtris,
Et ſine fine canant hymnos laudeſque ſonoras
Patri , qui cælum , terram , pontumque creavit,
Ne mœſtum limen tangant Acherontis averni,
Ac includantur diris fædiſque tenebris.

Cecini publicè

ALBERTUS DOORNEKROON,

Examine verno,

ANNO MDCLXXVI.

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183

Early European Books, Copyright © 2011 ProQuest LLC.
Images reproduced by courtesy of Koninklijke Bibliotheek, Den Haag.
504 B 183